RAZORBACK TRACK & FIELD 2006-07 SEASON REVIEW

INDOOR

The Razorbacks opened the 2007 indoor season with a mix of seasoned veterans, fresh faces and experienced underclassmen. A season chock-full of personal-bests, provisional-qualifying marks and All-America honors ended with a seventh-place team finish at the NCAA Championships.

In their season debut at the Arkansas Invite, the Razorbacks had a solid outing in the long jump as they swept first, second and third places. Alain Bailey, making his Razorback debut, won the event with a leap of 25-0.75. His mark was also a NCAA provisional-qualifying jump. Mychael Stewart marked a 24-11.75, provisionally qualifying him for the NCAA Championships.

Nkosinza Balumbu marked the third Razorback provisional-qualifying mark in the jumps events. He finished second in the triple jump with a leap of 51-1.5.

J-Mee Samuels made his indoor debut with a 6.69 showing in the finals of the 60-meter dash. His 6.69 is a NCAA provisional-qualifying clocking and sits at No. 3 on Arkansas' all-time list.

Peter Kosgei made a triumphant return to the track after redshirting the 2006 outdoor season and clocked a provisional-qualifying time of 7:55.67 in the 3,000 meters.

On day one of the Razorback Invite, the distance medley relay clocked a provisional-qualifying time of 9:44.17. Adam Perkins on the opening 1,200-meter leg clocked a split of 2:54.8, Clemore Henry ran a 48.8 400-meter leg, Brian Roe had a 1:53.4 800 meters and Kosgei anchored with a 4:06.9 1,600 meters.

The high jump was another bright spot for the Hogs. Greg Martin won the event with an NCAA provisional-qualifying clearance of 7-1. Bailey cleared a personal-best 6-11 and just missed the bar set at 7-1.

The distance events were strong on day two of the Razorback Invite with Scott MacPherson in the 3,000 meters (8:04.51) and Daniel LaCava in the mile (4:03.94) both clocking NCAA provisional-qualifying times in their respective events.

Samuels won the 60-meter dash with his second provisional-qualifying time of the season, 6.73. Samuels was seventh overall in the prelims with a time of 6.84.

Balumbu won the triple jump with a distance of 51-6.5, five inches farther than his jump to open the season at the Arkansas Invite. It was his second NCAA provisional-qualifying mark in as many weeks.

On day one of the New Balance Collegiate Invite, Arkansas' DMR dominated a strong field of the nation's best but failed to improve their NCAA provisional-qualifying time. LaCava, Henry, Roe and Perkins combined for a clocking of 9:47.13.

Stewart set a personal best and won the championship long jump with a leap of 25-1.25, his second NCAA provisional-qualifying mark of the season. Bailey earned a silver finish with his second NCAA provisional-qualifying mark of 24-11.25.

Samuels finished second in the 60-meter dash finals behind Florida State's Greg Bolden, who clocked a collegiate season-best time of 6.61. Samuels, who clocked a 6.74 in Friday's prelims, crossed the line in 6.70, his second fastest-time this season and in his career.

In a tightly packed championship 3,000-meter race, Perkins moved as high as fourth place but couldn't hold off the challenge and finished in 10th place with a time of 8:03.45, good for his first NCAA provisional-qualifying mark of the season.

TYLER HILL

On day one of the Tyson Invitational, Kosgei and Scott MacPherson followed their race plans almost perfectly in the 5,000 meters and both came away with qualifying times. Kosgei, clocking a 13:48.30, and MacPherson, following with a 13:49.03, were running for an automatic time but just missed the 13:48.00 standard.

In only his second appearance ever in the indoor 5,000 meters, MacPherson ran a personal-best and eclipsed his previous best of 14:49.06 by more than one minute.

The long jump proved to be a successful event for the Hogs again as both Stewart and Bailey came away with their third provisional-qualifying marks in the event. Bailey finished sixth with a leap of 25-0.5 and Stewart was eighth with a 24-8.5.

Balumbu was the lone shining moment on Saturday, the final day of the Tyson Invitational, when he improved his season best to 52-1.75 with a fourth-place finish in the championship triple jump.

Kosgei registered another provisional time in the 3,000 meters but didn't improve his season best. He earned a bronze finish in the championship 3,000 meters with his clocking of 7:57.29.

In the hunt for their 81st conference title, the Razorbacks banded together to score 126 points to take the SEC Indoor Championship.

While only one Hog was crowned an individual champion, Nkosinza Balumbu in the triple jump, a total team effort was the theme of the final day to put points on the board as the Razorbacks rebounded with four runner-up finishes from Bailey (long jump), Perkins (mile), Tyler Hill (5,000 meters) and the distance medley relay.

On day one, the jumps crew started off with 27 points as the high and long jumps were contested at the same time. In the high jump, after Martin no heighted, Brent Rosson stepped up to deliver five important points with a fourth-place finish.

Bailey, setting two personal bests and earning 14 points in his first SEC Championship appearance, missed his first attempt at 6-6 after running over from the long jump. Bailey then cleared 6-8, 6-9.75 and 6-11.5 all on his first attempts.

After missing his first two attempts at 7-0.5, Bailey went back to the long jump for good and ended his high jump competition. He finished third and scored six more points for the Hogs. Back at the long jump pit, Bailey couldn't better his prelim best of 25-4. He finished in second place.

Stewart finished fourth, Daniel Quinn earned a seventh-place finish and Balumbu rounded out the top eight with a leap of 22-11.75.

In the 3,000 meters, MacPherson earned a bronze finish, his highest at an SEC Championship event, with a clocking of 8:06.03.

Kosgei, the favorite coming in, finished fourth (8:06.412), Munoz was sixth (8:08.85), Strang was seventh (8:10.35) and Perkins rounded out the scoring eight with a time of 8:13.87.

Boris Roslov finished seventh overall, chipping in two points to the team total, in the heptathlon that concluded on Saturday.

After compiling 26 points in Saturday's high and long jumps, the crew came back with six entries in the triple jump. Balumbu secured his first indoor title win on a 52-2 leap with his teammates cheering him on from the infield.

Stewart rallied for a third-place finish in the triple jump. Quinn earned a fourth-place finish and a personal-best leap of 49-2.5. Martin rebounded from the high jump with a sixth-place finish and three team points with his leap of 49-1.75.

Also for the Hogs in the mile, Colin Costello finished fifth (4:05.45) and LaCava was sixth (4:05.78). Roe and Costello scored seven crucial points in the 800-meter final. A rough race from the gun, Roe earned a bronze finish with a time of 1:49.64 while Costello finished eighth (1:51.49).

At the Arkansas Last Chance, Costello, who had yet to post a NCAA provisional-qualifying mark, clocked a winning 4:01.35 in the mile run and placed him on the bubble for the NCAA Championships.

Stewart, still competing with a bruised heel he suffered at the SEC Championships, finished second in the long jump with a season and personal-best leap of 25-2.75, also another provisional-qualifying mark.

Day one at the 2007 NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships was eventful for Arkansas, in good ways and bad. Bailey and Stewart both earned All-America honors in the long jump while Costello's fate in the mile finals fell to the hands of the NCAA Games Committee.

Bailey continued his outstanding freshman season with a career-best jump of 25-6.75 and his first All-America honor. Stewart, still hampered by an injured heel, overcame any pain he may have felt and earned an eighth-place finish with his leap of 25-0.

Costello, making his first NCAA Championships appearance, led his heat of the mile prelims with 300 meters to go. Approaching the last turn, Costello tried to make a move and tripped. When he fell, the official assigned to watch the check point put his yellow flag up indicating a violation had occurred.

After review, Costello and David Nightingale of Princeton were advanced to the final after the officials ruled that they had been impeded. There was an appeal against Costello and Nightingale advancing but the official who made the original ruling did not change his decision.

The issue then went to the NCAA Games Committee and the Committee reviewed the film. After review, the Committee ruled that Costello was not impeded and therefore would not advance to the finals. Also decided was that Nightingale of Princeton was impeded by Costello's fall and would advance.

While the mile race was being sorted out, Kosgei and MacPherson took to the track for the 5,000 meters.

Kosgei earned runner-up honors, matching his career-best NCAA finish from the 3,000 meters in 2005, with his time of 13:39.88. His clocking is a personal best and the third-best time in school history behind Alistair Cragg (13:28.93) and Sean Kaley (13:36.87). Refusing to give up, MacPherson finished 14th with a time of 14:23.73.

Balumbu improved his fifth-place finish from 2006 with a jump of 53-1.5, good for a third-place finish and the second All-America honor of his career.

After a stunning 5,000-meter race on Friday night, Kosgei finished eighth in the 3,000 meters with a time of 8:03.02.

The Razorbacks finished seventh with 22 points and four All-America honors at the NCAA Indoor Championships.

In a season drenched with illness and injury, the Razorbacks did all they could to muster a handful of All-America honors, personal bests and regional qualifications.

Scott MacPherson and Peter Kosgei were the first Razorbacks to compete during the season. Making a trip west to run the 10,000 meters at the Stanford Invitational, MacPherson finished 24th in the field of 29 athletes, 13th among collegians, and was under the NCAA provisional time of 29:30.00 with his clocking of 29:16.74. Kosgei did not finish the race because of cramping.

The team opened the season at a rain-soaked Texas Relays. Competing Wed.-Fri., Coach McDonnell opted not to have his athletes compete on Saturday because of torrential downpours in the Austin area.

Some good did come from the Razorbacks' trip south. Micky Cobrin, Tyler Hill, Kosgei and Adam Perkins combined for a clocking of 15:40.41 to win Arkansas' 53rd Texas Relays title and ninth-straight 4x1,500-meter title (1999-2007).

Daniel Quinn and Alain Bailey became the first Razorbacks to qualify for the NCAA Midwest Regional Championships with their performances in the long jump.

Quinn jumped first in the "B" flight of the long jump. He finished second of the 15 competitors with his mark of 24-4.5, a then-personal best.

Bailey, the 2007 NCAA Indoor bronze medalist, jumped with the "A" group and finished sixth out of the 12 competitors, fifth among collegians with his mark of 24-5.

Up next, at the Mt. SAC Relays, the Razorbacks picked up six regional-qualifying marks on day one of competition. The Hogs had four runners in the 5,000 meters and all four earned regional-qualifying marks.

Matt Munoz finished fourth in the 35-man field with his time of 14:06.41. Strang was fifth with a 14:06.97. Barnicle was sixth, clocking a 14:07.57. Hill was the final Razorback runner with a time of 14:09.15. Barnicle and Hill also clocked personal bests.

In the 1,500 meters, Cobrin was the top Hog finisher with his regional-qualifying time of 3:45.48, also a personal best, and an eighth-place finish. Also punching his ticket to the NCAA Midwest Regional Championships, Perkins was 12th with his time of 3:46.02.

On Saturday, Brent Rosson got the day started finishing fifth in the high jump field of seven with a clearance of 6-10.75, the NCAA regional qualifying mark and an outdoor personal best.

The Razorbacks ended competition at Mt. SAC Relays adding two more NCAA regional-qualifying marks to their list. Arkansas recorded nine NCAA regional-qualifying marks during the three-day event.

Nkosinza Balumbu finished sixth in the 11-man field in the invitational triple jump with a leap of 51-5. In a packed field of professionals, Bailey finished eighth in the invitational long jump with his leap of 24-4.5, his second regional mark of the season. Mychael Stewart made his outdoor debut in the long jump and finished 11th with a 23-3.25.

J-Mee Samuels had a banner day at the John McDonnell Invitational, clocking two regional-qualifying marks and anchoring the 4x100-meter relay to a regional-qualifying time. The Razorbacks added 10 NCAA regional-qualifying marks to their list on a beautiful, sunny day in Fayetteville.

Samuels flew down the track in the invitational 100 meters and clocked a 10.13, the third-fastest time in school history. He took to the track for a second time on Saturday and anchored the 4x100-meter relay to a second-place finish and a regional-qualifying time of 39.95.

In his final appearance at the event, he finished second in the invitational 200 meters with a regional-qualifying time of 20.63.

Perkins bettered his 1,500-meter regional qualifying time with a 3:43.32 and a fourth-place finish while Balumbu posted the nation's best triple jump at the time with a leap of 53-0.75 and finished third in the event.

The Arkansas long jumpers had another solid day in the sand. Bailey won the event with a mark of 25-3.25, his third regional-qualifying mark of the season. Quinn finished third with a personal-best long jump of 25-0.75. Stewart finished fifth with a 24-9.75, his first regional-qualifying mark of the season and a new outdoor best.

Rosson and Bailey finished tied for second in the high jump. Both cleared the NCAA regional-qualifying height of 6-10.75. It was Rosson's second-consecutive week clearing this height and Bailey's first regional-qualifying mark in the high jump.

Arkansas traveled to the east coast for the historic Penn Relays next. Opening up competition, Chris Barnicle finished fifth, of 35 competitors, in the 5,000 meters championship. Clocking a personal best 14:02.19, he bettered his NCAA regional-qualifying mark of 14:07.57, run at Texas Relays.

Delayed by rain and lightning, Friday's Penn Relays events were wet and chilly for the Razorbacks.

CEDRIC ZELLNER, MYCHAEAL STEWART, CLEMORE HENRY

Stewart, with a long jump of 24-0.75, finished third of the nine competitors in the championships flight. Quinn jumped 22-9.75, good for a sixth-place finish.

The distance medley relay finished 11th, clocking a time of 9:50.86, with Cobrin on the 1,200 meters, Clemore Henry on the 400 meters, Brian Roe on the 800 meters and Perkins anchoring with the 1,600-meter leg.

The sprint medley relay started off strong with Samuels running close to Walter Dix of Florida State. Samuels handed off to Cedric Zellner for the second 200-meter leg. Henry took the stick for the 400-meter leg. Roe started off strong but didn't finish the race, stepping off the track after his first lap of the 800-meter leg.

Despite clear and sunny conditions, Arkansas' stream of bad luck on the track continued on the final day of competition at the 113th Penn Relays. The 2007 season marked only the second time in a 23-year history that the Hogs have not won a relay title.

The defending champions in the event, the Hogs put Munoz on the lead leg of the 4x1 mile relay, Cobrin on the second leg, Kosgei on the third leg and Perkins on the anchor leg.

Munoz started strong and ran a solid opening leg. He handed off to Cobrin in third place. Cobrin stayed with the lead pack that included Wisconsin, Oregon, Texas and Michigan, until he tripped right around the 200-meter start, about 1,000 meters into his leg. He fell behind badly and couldn't recover to make up any ground. Cobrin handed off to Kosgei, who quickly tried to make up some ground. He slowly picked off some runners and handed to Perkins in 11th-place.

Perkins took off, running solid and holding his pace. He crept up to the second pack of runners, who stayed about 25 meters behind the lead pack for the final leg. Perkins, splitting under four minutes, made up some ground but couldn't catch up to the lead pack. He finished eighth with a very strong anchor leg and a time of 16:34.52.

In final preparations for the SEC Championships, the Razorbacks hosted the Arkansas Twilight. What was expected to be a solid tune up turned into a dismal affair.

Kyle Komarek bettered his personal- and season-best javelin mark with a toss of 211-2 and a second-place finish. The throw was Komarek's second regional-qualifying mark.

Bailey added to his regional-qualifying list with a third-place finish in the long jump and a mark of 24-7, his fourth qualifying mark in the event.

Samuels won the 200 meters with a time of 20.92. While it was not a season best, it was his second regional-qualifying mark in the event.

In their quest for an 82nd conference championship, the Razorbacks fell short of a title-win in Tuscaloosa, Ala. at the SEC Championships.

Boris Roslov opened up the SEC Championships for the Hogs on Thursday with the decathlon. Entering the event with a bruised heel, he aggravated the injury during the long jump and will not complete the competition on Friday.

The Razorback harriers scored 21 points in the 10,000 meters on day two of the SEC Outdoor Championships. The Hogs' 21 points came from a second-place finish out of Kosgei (30:12.98), a fourth-place finish from Strang (30:18.11), a fifth-place finish from Barnicle (30:23.72), a sixth-place finish from Munoz (30:26.11) and an eighth-place finish from Hill (31:04.07).

Bailey finished third in the high jump around 8 p.m. with a clearance of 6-10.75 after starting the day at 1 p.m. with the long jump on day three of the SEC Championships. Bailey's clearance matches his personal best and was his second regional-qualifying mark in the event. Rosson finished sixth with a height of 6-8.75 scoring six points.

Bailey also led the Hogs in the long jump and missed his first SEC title by .25 inches. He finished second with a mark of 25-7.25, his outdoor collegiate best. Stewart finished seventh with a 24-3, his second regional-qualifying mark of the season. Quinn rounded out the scoring spots with an eighth-place finish and a leap of 23-11.75.

For the second time in 2007, Balumbu was the lone Razorback atop the awards podium at the SEC Championships. Balumbu won his third-straight SEC triple jump title, Arkansas' only individual title win, on the final day of the SEC Championships.

The Razorbacks, earning three runner-up finishes on Sunday and five in the championships, finished third in the team race with 100 points. The Tennessee Volunteers won the event with 129.5 points while LSU rounded out the top three in second place with 122 points.

Quinn finished sixth in the triple jump with a personal best 50-0.50, his second regional-qualifying mark in the event this season. Sidelined with an injury for much of the season, Gary Jones made his outdoor debut for the Razorbacks with a regional-qualifying mark of 49-9.25 and a seventh-place finish.

The Hogs finished fourth in the 4x100-meter relay to score five points. Zellner, Henry, Stewart and Samuels combined for a time of 39.89, also a regional-qualifying mark.

Perkins scored eighth points with a runner-up finish in the 1,500 meters. Also finishing second in the 2007 SEC indoor mile, he clocked a 3:44.71, his fourth regional-qualifying mark of the season. Samuels also earned a runner-up finish, this time in the 100 meters with a time of 10.30.

Kosgei, running in his third race in as many days, fought for a runner-up finish in the 5,000 meters with a time of 14:10.98. Hill was the next scorer for the Hogs in fifth place with a time of 14:16.89. Strang was seventh with a time of 14:20.63 and Munoz rounded out the scoring in eighth (14:22.95).

At the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships, Strang was the first Razorback to punch his ticket to the NCAA Championships on the first day of competition. He clocked a personal best 14:03.01, anchored by a 59-second final lap, and earned a bronze finish in the 5,000 meters. Also in the 5,000 meters, Barnicle finished seventh with a time of 14:06.01 and Munoz was ninth with a clocking of 14:11.20.

Samuels made a splash to start his first NCAA Regional Championships competition. He won his heat of the 100-meter dash prelims with a time of 10.38 and automatically advanced to the final. He started day one anchoring the 4x100-meter relay to a time of 40.18, the heat winner. The relay, Zellner, Stewart, Henry and Samuels, earned an automatic spot in Saturday's final with the fourth-fastest qualifying time.

Perkins stretched his senior season to another day with the 12th and final qualifying time of 3:46.66 in the 1,500-meter prelims.

The 4x100-meter, Zellner, Stewart, Henry and Samuels, relay started the Hogs off strong on day two of the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships with a runner-up finish and a time of 39.77, a season best.

Later in the day, Samuels came back to run a 10.29 in the finals of the 100 meters. His time was good enough for a fourth-place finish and an automatic trip to Nationals.

Balumbu finished fifth in the triple jump with his leap of 51-9 to secure his spot at the NCAA Championships for the fourth time in his young career.

Kosgei was the NCAA last qualifier of the night with a fourth-place finish in the 3,000-meter steeplechase. Running in only his second steeplechase race of the season, Kosgei clocked a time of 8:39.94 to earn his fourth-place finish.

In potentially the last race of his career, Perkins was warmed-up and ready to go in the 1,500-meter final but was delayed by a one hour and five minute lightning delay. Already battling a sore Achilles and calf on his left leg, Perkins finished 10th in his event with a time of 3:49.45.

On day one of the NCAA Championships, Kosgei advanced to the finals of the 3,000-meter steeplechase with a time of 8:41.32, good for a fourth-place finish in his heat.

Samuels, running both the 4x100-meter relay and the 100 meters on Wednesday, clocked a 10.25 in the 100-meter prelims. Finishing fifth, he missed an automatic advancement to the semifinals by one spot but his time was quick enough to earn the second-fastest non-automatic qualifying spot.

In the semifinals, held two hours after the prelims, Samuels clocked a 10.28 and was two spots short of advancing to the finals. However, he was top eight among American athletes and earned All-America honors.

A spot in the 4x100-meter finals was Arkansas' for the taking but poor hand-offs led Zellner, Stewart, Henry and Samuels across the line in 40.15. The Mid-east Region runners-up, the group could have secured its place in the final with a time of 40.12 or better. Charging strongly on the final leg, Samuels crossed the line in a time of 40.15.

Strang was the final competitor of the day in the 5,000 meters. He finished seventh in heat, one spot out of an automatic advancement to the finals, with a time of 14:31.97. In the hunt for a top-six finish down the home stretch, Strang had to jump over Fleet Hower of Georgetown who fell 10 yards from the finish line.

Late Wednesday night, Strang was added to the finals of the 5,000-meters. Strang's advancement came on the heels of a protest filed by head coach John McDonnell that was upheld by the NCAA committee. McDonnell filed a protest to allow Strang to advance after he was impeded by Hower of Georgetown.

Balumbu started the day three off strong in the triple jump prelims. Competing a mere 90 minutes from his hometown in the Bay Area, Balumbu advanced to Saturday's event finals with a ninth-place finish and a leap of 51-0.25.

Strang was another bright spot for the Hogs. His 12th-place finish in the 5,000 meters did not score any points but showed incredible promise for the rest of his Razorback career. He clocked a 14:03.40 and was one spot away from earning All-America honors.

Kosgei ended his season with an 11th-place finish in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, crossing the line in a time of 8:45.40.

Balumbu was the lone Hog competitor on Saturday. He took an early lead with a mark of 52-1.25 during the prelims. Advancing to finals, he found his best jump of the day on his final attempt with a mark of 52-5.5, good for a sixth-place finish and the third All-America honor of his career.

HOGS WIN FIVE TITLES, 34TH CONFERENCE TITLE IN 2007

Arkansas cross country won five of the seven races it entered in 2007, including its 17th SEC title and 34th conference title.

John McDonnell's Razorbacks opened the season with a title win at the Arkansas Duels. Facing off against Missouri Southern, Shawn Forrest was the Hogs' top finisher winning the four-mile race with a time of 19:29.1 and led the Hogs to the team title with 18 points. Arkansas finished four runners in the top five and five in the top eight.

At the Missouri Southern Stampede, Scott MacPherson won the 8K race and paced the Hogs to the title win with 22 points. MacPherson, the race runner-up in 2006, won the event with a time of 23:46.00. He bettered his time by almost 30 seconds from 2006 (24:21.6). MacPherson earned SEC Runner of the Week honors for his first-place finish.

Lane Boyer made his Razorback debut at the Missouri Southern Stampede and earned SEC Freshman of the Week honors for his efforts. Boyer was the Hogs' fifth scorer and top UA freshmen finisher in 11th place with a time of 24:50. He was the second-fastest freshman overall (7th; 24:35.00).

Tyler Hill finished second overall and was the second team finisher for the Hogs. He clocked a time of 23:48.00. Forrest, the race winner from a week ago at the Arkansas Duels, finished third overall and third for the Razorbacks with his time of 23:54.00. Munoz was the Hogs' fourth scorer with a time of 24:15.00 and a fifth-place finish overall.

Lane Boyer, making his Razorback debut, was the Hogs' fifth scorer. He finished 11th overall with a time of 24:50. Rio Reina was 21st with a time of 25:09. Michael Chinchar, also making his Razorback debut, was 25th with an 8K time of 25:14. Duncan Phillips clocked a time of 25:22.00, good for a 29th-place finish.

Next up at the Oklahoma State Cowboy Jamboree, the Hogs finished third with 73 points behind Oklahoma State (69 points) and Abilene Christian (69 points).

MacPherson was the top Hog finisher with a fifth-place finish and an 8,000-meter time of 24:12. The Plano, Texas native was the top Arkansas runner for the second time in as many races. He was also the top SEC finisher and the top South Central Region finisher.

Chris Barnicle was the Hogs second finisher and was 12th overall. He clocked a time of 24:36. Munoz was the third team finisher with a 15th-place finish (24:42). Hill was fourth on the team and 18th overall with his time of 24:46. Forrest was the final scorer in 23rd place with his time of 25:07.

Arkansas reclaimed the Chile Pepper Festival title, scoring 47 points to take first-place honors. Of the 259 collegiate runners, the Razorbacks finished five runners in the top 13, six harriers in the top 24 and seven in the top 30.

Forrest was the Hogs' top finisher in fifth place. Clocking a 10K time of 29:44.5, Forrest battled with the front pack throughout the race, drifting off ever so slightly towards the end but mustered a strong finish. He was the top SEC finisher and the second-fastest South Central Region runner.

Scott MacPherson was second for the Hogs with an eighth-place finish overall and a time of 30:08.3. He was the third SEC runner to cross the line and the third South Central Region finisher Hill was just a step behind MacPherson with a ninth-place finish and a clocking of 30:12.1. He was the fourth SEC runner to finish and the fourth South Central Region runner.

Munoz, running in his first Chile Pepper Festival as a Razorback, was Arkansas' fourth scorer with a 10K time of 30:16.8. His time was good for a 12th-place finish overall. Barnicle finished 13th with a 10K time of 30:20.1. Arkansas fifth scorer, he bettered his finish from 2006 by 25 places.

Damp and chilly weather in Lexington didn't slow the Hogs down as McDonnell's team took the 2007 SEC Cross Country title at Kentucky Horse Park. The Hogs won Arkansas' 34th-consecutive cross country conference title and its 17th-consecutive SEC cross country title. The title win also marks Arkansas' 82nd conference title (cross country, indoor and outdoor). Of the 98 runners competing, Arkansas finished five in the top 11, seven in the top 26 and 10 in the top 44.

Forrest led the Arkansas attack with a bronze finish and an 8K time of 23:57.39. The Melbourne, Australia native has never finished outside the top four in a SEC Cross Country Championships race.

Hill, competing in his last SEC Cross Country Championships, was the Hogs' second finisher with a fifth-place finish overall. He clocked a time of 24:10.64. In Hill's races this season, he has not finished outside of the top 18.

Rounding out Arkansas' scoring spots were Chris Barnicle in eighth place (24:19.46), MacPherson in ninth place (24:22.71) and Matt Munoz in 11th place (24:32.64). Forrest and Hill were named first-team All-SEC while Barnicle, MacPherson and Munoz earned second-team All-SEC honors.

The Arkansas freshman had another outstanding showing running in their first SEC Championships race. Boyer finished 25th overall and third among freshmen with his time of 25:07.26. Duncan Phillips made a dramatic improvement with his 26th-place finish, a season best, and a time of 25:10.01. Michael Chinchar was the eighth finisher for the Hogs, the fifth freshman overall and clocked a 25:22.83, good for a 32nd-place finish.

All three freshmen were named to the SEC's inaugural All-Freshmen team, honoring the top seven frosh finishers.

The squad punched its ticket to the NCAA Championships with an NCAA South Central Regional title win at Agri Park in Fayetteville. The Hogs scored 37 points to win the event.

The Razorbacks have won 18-consecutive NCAA South Central titles since 1990 and 29 of 30 South Central Championships awarded since 1978.

Munoz led the Hogs with a fifth-place finish and a time of 29:36.7. The race marks the first time Munoz was the first Hog to cross the finish line.

Barnicle was the second Hog to cross the line in sixth place with a time of 29:37.8. MacPherson finished seventh with a 10K time of 29:39.3. Hill was ninth, clocking a time of 29:55.8. Forrest rounded out the scoring five with a 12th-place finish and a time of 30:09.5.

Arkansas' five scorers earned South Central All-Region honors for their efforts. Also competing for the Razorbacks were Rio Reina (31st; 31:24.0) and Chinchar (45th; 31:48.8).

The Hogs ended the season with a disappointing 23rd-place finish at the NCAA Championships. Forrest was the Hogs' top finisher in 52nd place with a time of 30:42.2.

2008 INDOOR AND OUTDOOR TRACK AND FIELD PREVIEW

BRENT ROSSON

SHAWN FORREST AND SCOTT MACPHERSON

The 2008 season has the makings for a banner year for Arkansas track and field. Motivated by an uncharacteristic performance in 2007, head coach John McDonnell's track Hogs will be looking to add to Arkansas' collection of NCAA and SEC trophies and titles.

McDonnell, along with assistant coaches Dick Booth and Kyle White, has rounded up high-caliber newcomers to join with experienced veterans to form a group of student-athletes ready to take on the challenge of maintaining Arkansas' famed perennial-powerhouse image.

"This is a tightly knit group," McDonnell said. "The leadership wasn't there last year but we have leaders this year. This is a young group with a lot of experience. Our upperclassmen will be able to lead our younger guys. I've always said if you don't have leadership, you won't have a winning team. We have it this year."

During his 36th season at the helm of the Razorback program, McDonnell and his staff have their sights set on Arkansas' 21st SEC triple crown (winning SEC titles in cross country, indoor and outdoor) and the possibility of winning two more NCAA Championships.

McDonnell's distance squad welcomes back All-American Scott MacPherson. Shawn Forrest will also be returning to competition after redshirting the 2007 season while recovering from a stress fracture in his foot.

New to the distance group will be Lane Boyer, Michael Chinchar, Alex McClary, Andy McClary, Alex Neff and Duncan Phillips.

"We have some great freshmen coming in, Duncan Phillips, Michael Chinchar, Lane Boyer and Alex Neff," McDonnell said. "They have lots of great experience running in some difficult meets and races. Duncan was coached by a former Razorback in high school so he is used to our type of training."

Veterans Tyler Hill, James Strang, Colin Costello, Chris Barnicle and Daniel LaCava will also be returning with another year of experience under their belts. Strang and Costello were both NCAA qualifiers in 2007 and Hill earned huge points for the Razorbacks on the conference level in 2007.

"Daniel LaCava, Tyler Hill, Chris Barnicle, they are also in the mix," McDonnell said. "They have done some great things in the past and I expect more good things out of them this season."

Alex and Andy McClary, transfers from Cal, redshirted the 2007 season. Alex specializes in the 800 meters and Andy typically competes in the 1,500 meters but both have run distances from legs of the 4x400-meter relays to 5,000 meters. Andy finished fifth in the 1,500 meters at the 2007 USA Championships and earned a spot on Team USA at the Pan Am Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Freshman Chris Bilbrew will also add some depth in the middle distance group. Bilbrew has competed at distances from 400 meters to a mile while competing for Smiths Station high school. Bilbrew will concentrate on the 800 meters and aiding on the 4x400-meter relay while competing for the Hogs.

"Chris wants to run in a lot of races and he's a guy we are going to have to pull the ropes on," assistant coach White said. "He knows what he is in store for. He encourages that. He's going to be able to help across the board, in two or three events."

In the field events, assistant coach Booth welcomes back All-Americans Alain Bailey, Nkosinza Balumbu and Bentonville native Mychael Stewart. Balumbu finished third in the triple jump during the indoor season and was sixth at the outdoor championships.

"I think Nkosinza would think last year was a disappointment for him," Booth said. "He had a plantar fasciitis problem with his foot that probably bothered him more than he let on. I have really high expectations for Nkosinza. He's a leader on the team and I really feel like he's going to have just a great year."

Bailey's stellar freshman campaign ended abruptly in 2007 after tearing his meniscus and spraining his MCL at the SEC Outdoor Championships. After undergoing surgery to repair the tear, Bailey is expected to be back in top form for 2008.

"Outside of the knee surgery at the end of the season, I really felt like Alain was coming along," Booth said. "I expect him to be a contender for the national championship in the long jump and a much-improved high jumper. He's a first-class kid who is really going to be a leader for us."

Jack-of-all-trades Mychael Stewart earned All-America honors in the long jump during the indoor season and qualified for the outdoor championships as a leg of the 4x100-meter relay during the outdoor season. He will once again be looked upon to contribute in the long and triple jumps and the sprints.

"I'm going to give Mychael a better shot at the triple jump this year," Booth said. "If he could just learn that technique a little bit better, he's got the speed and the strength you need to do it well. He could be a surprise. He's gifted and he's a good runner. I think he'll be one of our better guys and he'll score points for us."

Stewart also made major headway in the sprints in 2007. In addition to his duties on the 4x100-meter relay, he also provisionally qualified for the 60 meters indoors and regionally qualified for the 100 meters outdoors.

"Mychael is willing to do anything for the team," assistant coach White said. "It's going to be a good year for Mychael, especially coming off the season he had in 2007. He's always excited and hopefully that excitement spreads through the sprints group."

Joining the All-Americans will be jumper Daniel Quinn, high jumper Brent Rosson and heptathlete/decathlete Boris Roslov. Quinn made major improvements in 2007 and will look to build on the momentum he gained.

"Daniel finished up well at the end of the year," Booth said. "He got a 25-foot long jump and a 50-foot triple jump last year and those are break through numbers. He'll be a good scorer at the conference level. I'm going into the year thinking there is a good chance of him being an All-American."

Rosson also hit a major milestone in 2007, clearing a collegiate best 6-10 and qualifying for the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships.

"It was very encouraging for Brent to clear 6-10 on numerous occasions last year," Booth said. "He has stepped it up with his jumping. I'm really hoping for him to get seven feet this year. That'll be a great accomplishment and he can go forward from there."

Booth will also be welcoming six newcomers, including Bryant native Spencer McCorkel. McCorkel was the nation's best prep pole vaulter during the 2007 season and finished third at the USA Junior Championships.

"What a great kid Spencer is," Booth said. "The thing that I'm going to be careful not to do is let the expectations for him get too high. The type of training we do and the year round training we do will be new for him. I think he'll respond very positively."

Luke Laird will join lettermen Kyle Komarek in javelin training. Komarek was an NCAA Mid-east Regional qualifier and scored points for the Hogs at the SEC Championships.

"Kyle has been here all summer, lifting weights and doing some throwing," Booth said. "He'll move up the conference list and we have some good throwers in our conference. I can see him qualifying for Nationals and breaking through to that next level."

J-Mee Samuels will lead the 2008 sprints group and has the resume to back it up. An All-American, fifth at the USA Championships and a member of Team USA at the World Championships in Osaka, Japan, Samuels will be looked upon to continue the momentum he started generating in June.

"I expect a lot out of J-Mee (Samuels) because we are through with our introductory process," assistant coach Kyle White said. "We both know what we want and how to get there. That combined with the fact that he ran so well at the end of the year at the USA Championships, the sky is the limit with J-Mee."

Samuels will be joined by returners Stewart, Cedric Zellner and Kent Austell.

"Cedric is definitely an overachiever," White said. "A lot of people didn't believe in him before he came to Arkansas. We gave him a chance and he has developed well. He made such a big stride last year."

Austell concentrates on the 400-meter hurdles and can also contribute to the 4x400-meter relay.

"Kent is an amazing guy," White said. "He'll do anything you ask him to do without questioning. He's gotten good and last year was huge. Because he is so smart and he is so open to change, we made some changes last year and he sacrificed a year learning my way of doing things and learning my philosophy on doing the 400-meter hurdles. He didn't have to do that. This year he knows what is going on and he knows where I want to lead him. His determination is going to go a long way."

The Razorbacks will stay close to home during the indoor portion of the schedule, hosting two home meets in January, the Tyson Invitational and the SEC Indoor Championships in February and, in March, the Arkansas Last Chance Qualifier and the 2008 NCAA Championships. At this season's NCAA Championships, McDonnell and his squad will be on the hunt for Arkansas' 20th national indoor title.

The Cardinal and White will make two trips to the Northeast when they compete in the Boston Indoor Games on Jan. 26 and the New Balance Collegiate Invite in New York, Feb. 8-9.

Arkansas will host the SEC Championships in its' quest for a 27th indoor conference championship, Feb. 29-March 2. In March, the Razorbacks will host a Last Chance Qualifier in preparation for the 2008 NCAA Championships in Fayetteville (March 9-10).

The Hogs will open the outdoor season at Texas Relays (April 2-5) and the Stanford Invitational (April 4-5). Arkansas will make a trip west for the Sun Angel Classic at Arizona State April 11-12. The annual John McDonnell Invitational will take place April 18-19 in Fayetteville. The Hogs will close out the month of April with the 114th Penn Relays, April 24-26, in Philadelphia, Penn.

In preparation for the SEC Championships, hosted by Auburn (May 15-18), the Razorbacks will host the Arkansas Twilight May 2. The Payton Jordan Cardinal Invitational will also be held that same weekend in Palo Alto, Calif.

The championships season begins with the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships at John McDonnell Field in Fayetteville, Ark., hosted by Arkansas, and concludes with the NCAA Championships in Des Moines, Iowa. (June 11-14).

- Five national triple crowns, including three in a row (1991-94). Texas-El Paso has won three national triple crowns. No other school has won one.
- 20 conference triple crowns since 1982, including eight straight between 1987 and 1995.
- 25-consecutive conference titles in cross country, indoor track and outdoor track combined from 1987-1995.
- 82 conference championships overall since 1974 including 38 in the SWC and 44 in the SEC.
- 12-consecutive NCAA indoor track championships (1984-1995), the longest string of national titles by any school in any sport in collegiate history.

- Every indoor and outdoor track and field school record is held by a McDonnell recruit.
- 34-consecutive conference and 17-consecutive SEC cross country championships (1974-2007).
- Has coached 23 Olympians spanning three decades and six different Olympic Games, including a gold, silver and bronze medalist.
- Coached former Razorback Daniel Lincoln to the American record in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in July, 2006.
- His 1994 indoor track squad won the national championship by the widest margin in the history of the sport. The '94 indoor track team scored the most points (94) in the history of the NCAA event.

- Razorback outdoor track facility named for him.

HEAD COACH JOHN McDONNELL

RAZORBACK STAFF

In his 36th season at the helm of the Arkansas cross country and track and field programs, head coach John McDonnell has redesigned and reenergized the face of collegiate track and field more than any other who have come before him.

At the age of 69, McDonnell shows no signs of stopping as he continues to recruit and mold the best young athletes in the world. He finds motivation and vigor in the student-athletes that come to compete for Arkansas.

"As long as our athletes continue to compete this way and as long as I enjoy what I'm doing," McDonnell says, "I plan to stay with it."

If professional basketball coach Pat Riley was right when he said that "Coaches who let a championship team back off from becoming a dynasty are cowards," then McDonnell is a profile in coaching courage. He's as hungry for the next national title as he was for the first.

"I don't know exactly what continues to drive me," says McDonnell. "It must have something to do with everyone wanting to beat us and going out and winning one more time. Our young guys come in here and want to win one of those national championship rings. They're excited. It rubs off on us."

The Razorbacks have won at least one national title in cross country, indoor track or outdoor track in 22 of the past 25 years, including an 18-year streak (1984-2000). The most recent came in the 2006 indoor season.

If McDonnell draws inspiration from maintaining that tradition for the athletes, then they certainly draw inspiration from his success. The numbers are staggering: 42 NCAA titles – 11 in cross country, 19 in indoor track and 12 in outdoor track.

Only four NCAA institutions have won more than 42 men's national championships. Southern California (72), UCLA (69), Stanford (57) and Oklahoma State (46) are the only schools whose entire men's athletic programs have won more than McDonnell's track and cross country teams.

No other coach is close. Former LSU and current Texas A&M coach Pat Henry has 26 national titles to his credit. Ted Banks built a track power at Texas-El Paso and earned 17 NCAA crowns. Banks' teams won three national triple crowns. McDonnell's squads have won five NCAA triple crowns. Other than UTEP, no other school in the country has won a national triple crown.

"I have followed John McDonnell's career for many years," says former president Bill Clinton, who was a law professor at Arkansas before his political career took him to the governor's mansion and then the White House. "I have marveled at his outstanding accomplishments with the Razorback cross country and track and field programs. His countless national and conference championships are proof of his ability to train and inspire young people to not only compete, but to win at the highest level."

Arkansas' teams have been even more dominant at the conference level, winning 82 league championships, most recently the 2007 SEC cross country title. In the Southwest Conference, where they competed head to head with other powerful track programs like Texas, Texas A&M, TCU, Houston and Baylor, McDonnell's Razorbacks won 38 titles – 17 in cross country, 12 in indoor track and nine in outdoor track.

The Razorbacks switched to the Southeastern Conference in time for the 1991 cross country meet, and league members vowed to show their strength against the Hogs. But while Tennessee, Florida, LSU and others have been strong, the Razorbacks' dominance continued.

McDonnell's teams sent a signal to the SEC when the Hogs took the first five places for a perfect score in their first league cross country meet. Arkansas has been nearly invincible since. The Razorbacks have won 44 of a possible 49 SEC titles since joining the league, including all 17 cross country titles.

Arkansas' streak of conference cross country titles now stands at 34, which makes it a particular source of pride for McDonnell. The streak started in 1974, McDonnell's third season as cross country coach. The Hogs won 17 consecutive SWC cross country crowns before moving to the SEC. Their victory in 2007 was their 17th in a row in the SEC.

"We have always had the right type of kids and we also had people to fill in for seniors who graduate," McDonnell said. "That's special. I tell people all the time, we have won 42 national championships but they haven't been in a row. When you win 33 of anything in a row, to me there's nothing more special than that. In my heart, that's my greatest achievement as a coach."

Key to the success of any coach is a steady flow of talented, committed athletes. And McDonnell's success has had a snowball affect. His reputation for helping athletes achieve their best helps attract the best athletes.

One thing every athlete is sure of when he comes to Arkansas is that he will leave better than when he came – as an athlete, as a student and as a person. And in addition to helping the team win conference and national titles, many Razorbacks become champions in their individual events.

Before McDonnell took over at Arkansas, only three athletes in Razorback track and field history had become All-Americans. During McDonnell's term, 182 Hogs have become All-Americans and they have combined to earn a stunning 645 All-America honors.

"I am his creation," seven-time NCAA champion and Olympian Alistair

"His countless national and conference championships are proof of his ability to train and inspire young people to not only compete, but to win at the highest level."

– FORMER PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON

“John McDonnell has been the most successful and the best coach in the United States from the 1980s on.”

— WORLD-CLASS MARATHONER AND NIKE EXECUTIVE ALBERTO SALAZAR

Cragg says. “I came in here out of shape and had quit running. He’s got that hand on your shoulder that you know you can’t mess up, but if you do that you’re not going to mess up on your own. You can go into any race or competition with a lot of confidence. When he says you’re ready, you’re ready. It’s a reassurance.”

With the best coach in America attracting the best athletes in the world, it’s only natural that Arkansas provides the best facilities anywhere. The new John McDonnell Field was constructed during the 2006 season in order to host the 2006 SEC Championships. The venue was also re-dedicated in McDonnell’s name in the spring of 2006.

John McDonnell Field has been redesigned into a 7,000-seat venue, complete with a 16x9 video board and luxury suites.

Arkansas has a cross country course on the school’s property north of campus. And the Hogs moved into their new world-class indoor facility, the Randal Tyson Track Center, in 2001, just in time to host the NCAA indoor meet.

“John built this program,” says Mike Conley, a five-time NCAA champion at Arkansas and the 1992 gold medal winner in the Olympic triple jump. “When he recruited me and the others who eventually won the school’s first national triple crown, there weren’t any facilities to speak of. We came because we believed in him and what he thought he could do at Arkansas. The facilities came later because of his success.”

That success is built on a commitment to team excellence that often is ignored by other programs. While some are content to focus on a few stars in a few events, McDonnell and assistant coaches Dick Booth and Kyle White develop depth and talent in the sprints, the distance events and the field events.

“Coach (Kyle) White is young and energetic,” McDonnell said. “He had tremendous success working with the sprinters and hurdlers at UT-Arlington. He’s a great recruiter and that’s what you have to have. Athletes won’t just show up if they aren’t contacted and recruited.”

White, a former Razorback All-SWC jumper and hurdler himself, is one of the many who learned from McDonnell and Booth and are now passing their knowledge on to the track and field world.

Some Razorback alumni who are now coaching on the collegiate level include Edrick Floreal, director of track and field at Stanford, Stanley Redwine, head cross country and track and field coach at Kansas, Lawrence Johnson, assistant coach for sprints, hurdles and jumps at Virginia Tech and Jerome Romain, assistant coach at Brown.

Tom Aspell (Arkansas Tech), David Barney (Paradise Valley C.C.), Matt Kerr (Wake Forest), Mike Power (Memphis) and David Welsh (Boise State) are all heavily involved in collegiate cross country coaching at their respective schools.

Former Razorback, three-time Olympian and former assistant coach Mike Conley served as the director of elite athlete programs for USA Track and Field, the national governing body of the sport.

McDonnell also has one of his former athletes sitting just down the hall from him at Bud Walton Arena. All-American Danny Green is in his 13th season as the director of track and field operations for the Razorbacks.

Doing anything and everything for the team is something McDonnell and Booth have stressed since they started their coaching duties together. Consistently bringing in athletes that are competitive in two or three events has been the game-plan from the beginning.

The Hogs never needed that more than at the 2006 SEC Championships, the first title meet contested at the new John McDonnell Field.

“The performance we had here at the 2006 SEC Outdoor Championships was maybe one of the best I have ever been part of,” Booth said. “It was because we weren’t the best team but our team would not lose Coach (John) McDonnell’s first track meet at John McDonnell Field, period. And we talked about that (as a team). I have never needed to win a track meet more than that one and that’s what I said to the guys. We had a state-of-art facility built and Coach McDonnell’s name is on it and we are not losing the first track meet.”

That team commitment is also illustrated in the inspirational performances of several Razorbacks at the 2005 NCAA Indoor Championships. After the winning distance medley relay team had been disqualified late Friday night, McDonnell rallied his team on Saturday morning, reminding the Hogs that no one could take the national title away from them. A string of lifetime-best performances and second-place finishes from seniors Terry Gatson (400 meters), James Hatch (800 meters) and sophomore Peter Kosgei (3,000 meters) propelled Arkansas to the title.

The NCAA-qualifying distance medley relay team found redemption at the 2006 NCAA Championships when Adam Perkins, Jeremy Dodson, Brian Roe and Said Ahmed combined for a title-winning time of 9:37.02, erasing memories of the previous season.

Balanced scoring is the hallmark of Arkansas’ team success under McDonnell. In fact, at the 2003 SEC Outdoor Championships all but six of McDonnell’s 27 athletes contributed points towards an UA victory.

“Everyone feels a need to contribute,” McDonnell says. “I try to never put too much pressure on any one athlete. I will tell our jumpers we need 12 points from them. I don’t tell one jumper we need his 10 points. That puts too much pressure on.”

Through it all, McDonnell retains his humility, humor and sense of honor. He believes in giving a good day’s work for a good day’s pay. He believes in instilling proper values into his athletes, holding them to high standards in every aspect of life. He has a quick smile and is comfortable around anyone. He’s never been carried away with all he’s accomplished.

“I never dreamed it would happen here,” he says. “When Coach (Frank) Broyles hired me, he told me he wanted to compete on a national level, maybe win a national championship every five years. He wanted us to finish ahead of Texas and win as many Southwest Conference titles as possible. If I took him at his word, our national championships should keep me around another 190 years."

As strange as it sounds today, there was a time McDonnell, who took over the cross country program in 1972 and the track program in 1978, quickly turned the Hogs into a force in the Southwest Conference and a contender at the national level, but their first NCAA crown didn't come until 1984 at the NCAA Indoor Championships.

"We had been close, finishing second one year and third another," McDonnell says. "At the 1984 indoor meet, it looked like we had it won when they started disqualifying relay teams in the final event. We were afraid the disqualifications would allow Iowa State to catch us. After about a 30-minute delay that seemed like hours, we had won. It was a great feeling."

It was a feeling that lasted. The 1984 championship was the first of 12 indoor national titles in a row for the Razorbacks – the longest streak of national titles by any school in any sport in history. The streak ended in 1996, but Arkansas rebounded to win the next four.

The first NCAA cross country crown came in the fall of 1984. It opened a wonderful year for the Hogs, who again won indoors and earned their first NCAA outdoor title to give Arkansas its first national triple crown. Arkansas has added 10 more cross country national titles for a NCAA-record 11 overall.

The outdoor dominance is more recent. The Razorbacks didn't win their second outdoor national title until 1992, but that started a run of eight consecutive championships.

"John McDonnell has been the most successful and the best coach in the United States from the 1980s on," says world-class marathoner and Nike executive Alberto Salazar. "His teams have continued to get better and better. He has set the standard for all other coaches to follow."

McDonnell has been National Coach of the Year 12 times in indoor track, 11 times in outdoor track and seven times in cross country for a total of 30 awards. He has been Conference Coach of the Year a remarkable 48 times, and Region Coach of the Year 62 times. He has also been awarded the NCAA Midwest Regional Coach of the Year three of the five years it has been presented (2003-05).

"John McDonnell is a world-class coach because he is a world-class leader," says Dr. B. Alan Sugg, president of the University of Arkansas system. "He inspires young men to achieve goals well beyond what they thought they could ever achieve. Never in the history of the NCAA has a coach won more national titles than has John McDonnell's University of Arkansas track teams. He has developed fabulous publicity and good will for the University and our state. I have tremendous appreciation and respect for Coach McDonnell."

McDonnell, who was born July 2, 1938, in County Mayo, Ireland, grew up with a love for running, but his first job upon immigrating to America in 1964 was as a cameraman in New York City. When a promised position with ABC was delayed, he accepted a scholarship offer to run track at Southwestern Louisiana, now Louisiana-Lafayette. He was a six-time All-American in cross country and track at USL. He was also the 1966-67 AAU 3,000-meter champion, and he won the mile at the 1966 British Selection Games.

McDonnell was granted U.S. citizenship in 1969, the same year he graduated from USL. He coached high school track for two years in New Providence, N.J., and a year at Lafayette, La., before moving to Arkansas. He took the job at Arkansas over a similar offer from Oklahoma, he says, because the terrain of Northwest Arkansas reminded him of his home in Ireland.

In order to make ends meet, McDonnell taught briefly at Greenland High School, south of Fayetteville, while coaching the Razorbacks. He began in 1972 coaching cross country and assisting Ed Renfrow with the track and field program. When Renfrow left coaching, Broyles promoted McDonnell in time for the 1977-78 academic year. He's been a mainstay at the University of Arkansas ever since.

When McDonnell is not coaching he enjoys spending time on his 2,500-acre cattle ranch in Pryor, Okla. An ideal day would include riding his horse during a roundup of the over 650 heads of cattle he owns.

McDonnell is also very involved with several non-profit organizations. He is a strong supporter of the American Heart Association, the Central Arkansas Radiation Therapy Institute, the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation and works closely with the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences to promote Prostate Cancer Awareness.

Most recently, in the fall of 2006, McDonnell was again recognized by the University of Arkansas for his 35 years of service and dedication and by ULL as an Outstanding Alumni.

During half time ceremonies at the 2006 UA homecoming game against Southeast Missouri State, McDonnell was given the honorary alumni award.

Two weeks later, McDonnell was honored by ULL with the Outstanding Alumni Award. The Outstanding Alumni Award is the highest honor the university bestows upon a former student. It is given in recognition of outstanding professional and personal achievements that have brought honor and distinction to the University of Louisiana at Lafayette.

In addition to having the outdoor track stadium named in his honor, McDonnell is a member of the National Track & Field Hall of Fame, United States Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches (USTFCCCA) Hall of Fame, the UA Sports Hall of Honor, the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame, the Louisiana-Lafayette Athletic Hall of Fame and the Mayo Hall of Fame.

He's married to the former Ellen Elias of Bayonne, N.J. The McDonnell's have two children, Heather and Sean.

Dick Booth has been a mainstay of Arkansas track field for more than 25 years over two different coaching stints. He helped head coach John McDonnell jump-start the nation's top program by consistently producing the nation's finest jumpers and other field event athletes.

In his 27th season, Booth has built and maintained one of the top field programs in the country, which has helped the Razorbacks win many of their numerous national championships and led to Olympic glory for several of his top athletes.

Booth has been with McDonnell for 27 years, first from 1978-84 and since 1988 in his most recent stint.

The former head coach at Louisiana-Lafayette knows what it takes to win a national title and he knows how to produce All-America and national champion-caliber athletes. He's recruited, developed and worked with top talent at Arkansas, which has helped Booth build a collection of national championship rings that only McDonnell can rival.

McDonnell laid the foundation for UA's success, and a key piece to that foundation was the addition of Booth, who took charge of the field events in 1978.

Not only has Booth done an incredible job in recruiting outstanding talent, but he has turned them into incredible collegiate performers. His athletes are all over the school's record book. He has coached or recruited every UA school record holder in field events.

It all started when Booth and McDonnell convinced Mike Conley to come to Arkansas from Chicago. Under Booth's watchful eye, Conley helped lead the Hogs to their first ever top-10 finishes at the NCAA indoor and outdoor championships during his freshman and sophomore seasons.

With aspirations of being a head coach, Booth then left for ULL to take over the Ragin' Cajun program.

After producing four successful seasons, two individual national championships, five All-Americans and 19 school record holders at ULL, Booth returned to Fayetteville following the 1988 campaign, again as field events coach.

Booth and McDonnell formed a wonderful team their first time together. During this second stretch, they've been remarkable.

In fact, the first three years Booth was back, Arkansas won the NCAA indoor crown and in the fourth year, the Hogs began a remarkable run of three consecutive national triple crowns.

Since Booth's return, Arkansas has won 14 NCAA indoor track titles in 20 tries with eight consecutive NCAA outdoor track championships between 1992 and 1999 and another winning streak started with titles earned in 2003-06. Thus, in his entire 27-year tenure, Arkansas is averaging over one national championship per year. No coach, other than McDonnell, in the history of collegiate athletics can make such a claim.

While team success always comes first, the accomplishments of the athletes Booth has coached individually are stunning. During his time at Arkansas, he has worked with athletes to help them claim 44 individual national championships and 134 All-America honors. Additionally he has coached 11 Olympians.

The jumpers he's worked with could compile a Who's Who list of collegiate track. They've included Conley, Erick Walder, Robert Howard, Edrick Floreal, Brian Wellman, Jerome Romain, Ray Doakes, Matt Hemingway, Melvin Lister and Kenny Evans.

He's also coached pole vaulter Mark Klee and shot put-discus standouts Marty Kobza and Scott Lofquist, among others. At ULL, he had standouts Hollis Conway and Neil Guidry.

Booth has developed many jumpers into Olympic caliber athletes and has seen his fair share of talent come through the doors of the Arkansas track and field program.

"Coach Booth conditioned my body, stimulated my mind, motivated my self esteem and molded me into the man that I am today. I will be forever grateful!"

— OLYMPIC GOLD MEDALIST MIKE CONLEY

RAZORBACK STAFF

His efforts in the collegiate ranks paid off when he was selected by his peers to serve as the jumps coach for the United States Track and Field team that competed at the Sydney games.

As the coach for the Olympic team, Booth's responsibilities were similar to his Razorback duties as he oversaw the long jumpers, high jumpers, triple jumpers and pole vaulters.

Luckily for Booth, familiar faces made the squad as he once again had the opportunity to coach high jumper Kenny Evans, a member of the 2001 Razorback squad, triple jumper Robert Howard and long jumper Melvin Lister. Other Booth products in the Olympics included former Razorbacks Romain and Wellman.

Even though none of the Razorback jumpers medaled in the 2000 Olympic Games, the experience speaks volumes for how Booth's peers feel about him. The coaches for the Olympic Games are selected by a committee of athletes and the U.S. Olympic Committee.

The international success of Booth's pupils gave him an inside track for the U.S. Olympic coaching position but prior to the Sydney Games, Booth was no stranger to the Olympic Games.

At the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain, Booth's most successful jumper, Conley, captured a gold medal in the triple jump with the second-longest wind-aided distance in the history of the event. Conley had previously won a silver medal in the 1984 Olympics.

Conway, the American indoor record holder in the high jump, earned a silver medal in the 1988 Olympics and a bronze at the 1992 games.

In 1995, Wellman won the World Indoor triple jump and finished second at the World Outdoor Championships. Romain was third in the triple jump at the World Outdoors.

At the 1996 Centennial Olympic Games at Atlanta, the triple jump finals were loaded with ex-Razorbacks who had been coached by Booth, including Conley, Howard, Wellman and Romain.

At the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece, Hemingway, another notable high jumper, captured the silver medal. Under the guidance of Booth, Lister also had another opportunity to represent the United States after he registered a record triple jump mark of 58-4 at the U.S. Trials. Lister became the first athlete to win both the long (2000) and triple (2004) jumps at the Trials, cementing him as one of the nation's most talented horizontal jumpers.

The current generation of jumpers is no different. Starting with Jaanus Uudmae's 2006 indoor triple jump title, Booth has continued to recruit and train some of the best jumpers in the nation.

Nkosinza Balumbu is a two-time All-American, a three-time SEC Champion and a four-time All-SEC Performer in the triple jump.

Alain Bailey made a splash during his freshman season in 2007, taking All-American honors in the long jump after placing third at the NCAA Indoor Championships. He is also a two-time All-SEC performer and earned two SEC runner-up finishes in the long jump in 2007.

Mychael Stewart, Daniel Quinn and Brent Rosson add to a seasoned mix of veterans welcoming fresh faces the Razorbacks' roster.

A superb technician, Booth believes in establishing a close bond with his athletes and believes positive reinforcement is the most important aspect of successful coaching. He stresses the importance of the athlete understanding his event and the training he needs to reach the highest level of his potential.

A native of Blue Mound, Kan., Booth was a quarter miler at Ottawa University. He began his coaching career at Wellington (Kan.) High School, then moved to Fort Scott (Kan.) High School and Shawnee Mission South. He gained a reputation as one of the premier prep field events coach in the country while working with four state record holders in seven seasons at Shawnee Mission South.

He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Ottawa in 1966 and a master's degree in physical education from Kansas State in 1970.

He and his wife, Merry Lee, have a son, Marc, and a daughter, Reagan Russell. Marc was a punter for the Razorback football team and Reagan was a member of the women's track team at ULL. They also have six grandchildren.

"He's a great motivator and knows how to get the best out of athletes."

Former Razorback student-athlete Kyle White is in his second season with the Arkansas track and field staff, coaching the sprints, hurdles and relay groups.

In his first year with the Hogs, White coached two national qualifiers, J-Mee Samuels in the 100 meters and the 4x100-meter relay.

Samuels was the SEC 100-meter runner-up and finished 11th at the NCAA Championships, earning his first All-America honor. Samuels' 100-meter best of 10.13 ranks second on Arkansas' all-time wind-aided list. His indoor 60-meter best of 6.69 ranks third on Arkansas' all-time list.

The 4x100-meter relay took fourth at the SEC Championships and earned a runner-up finish at the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships.

After the collegiate season concluded, Samuels went on to finish fifth at the USA Championships, earning him a spot on Team USA at the Pan American Games and the World Championships in Osaka, Japan.

White has worked with six athletes that competed in the 2007 IAAF World Championships held in Osaka, Japan in August. They include Americans Tyson Gay, Wallace Spearmon, Derrick Williams and J-Mee Samuels, Canadian Jared Connaughton and Jamaican Veronica Campbell.

Gay won the gold medal in the 100 meters, 200 meters and as a member of the 4x100-meter relay while Campbell won the 100 meters on the women's side. Samuels finished 17th overall in the 100 meters.

White, a native of Arlington, Texas, has 13 years of Division I coaching experience and spent the last seven seasons as an assistant under head coach John Saurhage at Texas-Arlington. During his time coaching the Mavericks' sprinters, hurdlers, jumpers and relays, White's athletes earned 106 individual Southland Conference titles. He was also a member of eight men’s and women’s Southland Conference team championships, including the 2000-2001 women’s triple crown.

White’s Maverick student-athletes accounted for 23 school records in the jumps, sprints, hurdles and relays. He coached 21 national qualifiers, 20 provisional qualifiers, 63 regional qualifiers and six went on to earn All-America honors. 124 of White’s athletes reached the all-time top five performance lists in school history in the respective events.

Prior to joining the Razorbacks in July, 2006, his recent accomplishments include coaching Jared Connaughton, in the 200 meters, to a 2006 NCAA Outdoor Championship appearance and a bronze medal at the North America Central America Caribbean (NACAC) Under-23 Championships in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. Connaughton, who posted a season-best 20.70 in the event, clocked a 21.22 in the prelims and a 21.14 in the finals at the NACAC Under-23 Championships. Connaughton was also the 2006 Southland Conference Outdoor Champion in the 100 and 200 meters.

Additionally, White also coached the 2000 and 2001 Drake Relays 100-meter champion LaQuinta Manahan, the 2002 and 2005 Drake Relays Shuttle Hurdle Relay Champion and the 2003 Drake Relays men’s 4x100-meter champion.

Prior to his arrival in Arlington, White spent time as an assistant coach at Bucknell (1995-97), where he coached 14 Patriot League champions and was a member of four Patriot League team championships, and at East Tennessee State (1992-95), where he coached two Southern Conference champions and was a member of two Southern Conference team championships, under legendary head coach Dave Walker.

White competed on the collegiate level for the University of Arkansas (1986-89) and earned three All-Southwest Conference accolades. During his tenure with the Hog track and field program, the squad won two NCAA titles and five SWC championships.

Before his time in Fayetteville, White was a football, basketball and track and field letterman at Arlington High School. He high jumped and hurdled for coach Gerald Richey, a current UTA assistant track and field coach.

White received his bachelor’s degree in political science from UA and went on to receive a master’s degree in physical education from East Tennessee State. He is married to Dr. Alison N. White and their son, Hayden James, was born Jan. 17, 2007.

He spends his off-season recruiting and teaching movement techniques and speed dynamics at clinics around the nation.

He is also a consultant for Power Tek Fitness, a multi-sport speed, strength and conditioning business that works with professional and Olympic athletes in the USA and Canada.

“Coach White really took a chance on me. I was unestablished and uneducated coming from Canada. He took a chance and took me under his wing. He nurtured me into the sprinter I am today. His patience and guidance were exactly what I needed being so far away from home. He is thorough, innovative and patient and that’s what makes him a great coach.”

The newly renovated John McDonnell Field hosted its first event, the 2006 SEC Championships, in May, 2006. It was also rededicated during the event.

THIS IS HOG COUNTRY

HOME OF CHAMPIONS

While the SEC is the nation's best conference, Arkansas takes its success far past the regional level. During UA's time in the SEC, the Hogs have produced 30 national championship teams. The other SEC schools combined have won 33 NCAA crowns in men's sports, meaning Arkansas has won almost as many as the rest of the league combined. LSU is the closest to matching UA's national title total, but the Razorbacks have a 30-8 lead over the Tigers. Next in the league are Auburn with seven, Florida with six, Georgia with five, Tennessee four, Kentucky two and Alabama one.

Overall, Arkansas has won 44 men's national championships in its athletic history, all but one since 1984. The only one before '84 was the post-bowl version of the football national championship in 1964. In the league, LSU is next with 18, followed by Florida with 10, Tennessee with nine, Auburn and Georgia with eight, Alabama and Kentucky with seven, and Ole Miss one.

Here's the breakdown on Arkansas' national titles: 19 in indoor track, 12 in outdoor track, 11 in cross country, one in football and one in basketball.

In 16 years, Arkansas has won 49 SEC championships, including 17 in cross country, 15 in indoor track, 13 in outdoor track, two in basketball and baseball, and one in golf. The Hogs have also won four Western Division titles in football, and three in basketball and baseball.

CROSS COUNTRY FACILITY » RAZORBACK CROSS COUNTRY COURSE

With one of the most successful cross country teams in the nation, there was a need for a permanent place for the University of Arkansas cross country squad to call home. In 1996, the Razorback Cross Country course at Agri Park was developed. As one of only a few permanent on-campus cross country venues in the nation, the Razorback Cross Country Course hosted its first events in 1996, serving as the site for the annual Chile Pepper Cross Country Festival and the Arkansas Invitational.

Most recently it hosted the 2007 NCAA South Central Regional Championships and it was the first time the event had been held in Fayetteville. A large hometown crowd enjoyed seeing the Hogs compete.

The course is set up with a wide starting area that leads to a competition area that can be arranged to accommodate many different course lengths, including two-miles, 5,000 meters, 8,000 meters or 10,000 meters while using the same starting area and finish chute.

For the spectators, it is a great venue as you can watch most of the race from the hill-top near the finishing area.

For the runners, the fast course can include challenges such as a constantly changing terrain ranging from an open field to a covered forest-like area and wooden steeple barriers.

INDOOR FACILITY » RANDAL TYSON TRACK CENTER

One of the newest facilities on the University of Arkansas campus is the Randal Tyson Track Center, which was dedicated on February 12, 2000. The new facility was the vision of UA head coach John McDonnell and Athletic Director Frank Broyles and continues the tradition of building some of the finest facilities in the nation at Arkansas.

In its first year of operation, the $8 million facility hosted the Tyson Invitational, a meet on the Golden Spike Tour, the 2000 Southeastern Conference Championships and the 2000 NCAA Indoor Championships. In 2001 and 2002, the Randal Tyson Track Center once again served as the host for the Golden Spike Tour's Tyson Invitational and the NCAA Indoor Championships.

During the 2003 season, three events were held at the state-of-the-art facility: the SEC West Challenge, the Tyson Invitational and the NCAA Championships. The 2004 campaign saw four exciting events take place at the Randal Tyson Track Center, including the Arkansas, Razorback and Tyson Invitational meets and the national championships.

The schedule was full in 2005 as the Arkansas, Razorback and Tyson Invitationals and the SEC and NCAA Championships were all held at the Tyson Track Center. The Razorbacks are slated to host the NCAA Championships through the year 2008 and again in 2010.

A new 36x20 custom video scoreboard system by Daktronics was installed in time for the 2005 NCAA Championships. It features a 23x13 video display screen with instant replay, electronic timing and scoring capabilities.

The track itself is a 200-meter, 60-degree banked track that has 55-meter straightways running the entire length of the facility. It also includes men's and women's jumping runways and pits. The surface of the track is red and gray Mondo and was repainted in 2003.

With all of the big name events that are held in the facility, the Tyson Track Center was built to handle the demands for the many media outlets. The press box is two-tiered offering 50 seats and has an announcer's booth. There are four elevated camera positions located around the track. A media room is also available in the north concourse.

OUTDOOR FACILITY » JOHN McDONNELL FIELD

Home to the most successful program in NCAA history, John McDonnell Field has been transformed into one of the top outdoor track and field facilities in the nation. Named for legendary head coach John McDonnell, the winner of 42 NCAA national championships, the facility is one of only two IAAF Class 1 certified track and field complexes in the U.S. and the first such facility on a collegiate campus.

The state-of-the-art competition areas include a nine-lane Mondo track, a grass infield as well as a full hammer cage and multiple throw areas. The pole vault and jumping pits are reversible and contain two sets of runways to accommodate multiple events. Capacity is currently set at 7,000 but has the potential to hold 10,000 with additional construction.

The new John McDonnell Field played host to the 2006 Southeastern Conference Outdoor Track and Field Championships on May 11-14, 2006. The SEC meet was the first in what promises to be a long line of prominent events slated for the new facility. Future events at the facility will likely include national junior events, the 2008 NCAA Mideast Regional Championships and the 2009 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

major university town. Since the 1960s, the area has been a haven for writers, artists, poets and musicians.

TEACHING AND LEARNING

Teaching is a primary mission of the University of Arkansas. At this mainly residential campus, the faculty numbers 839, of which 94 percent are full-time. Nine of every 10 faculty members — 92 percent — hold either the doctorate or the terminal degree in their field. Sixty-five percent are tenured.

As research universities go, the University of Arkansas falls toward the smaller, more intimate end of the spectrum. More than 67 percent of all undergraduate class sections have 29 or fewer students.

Despite the intimate instructional environment, the University has more academic programs than many larger universities: 216 academic degree programs at the baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels.

The campus culture places high value on excellent teaching. The instructional mission is aided by the Teaching and Faculty Support Center, a program run by faculty for faculty. The Center involves as many as 400 faculty per year in programs, seminars and workshops, as well as individual assistance and technological support to update and enhance their teaching methods.

STUDENTS

The University of Arkansas is working to increase the size and quality of its student body and is seeing success on both counts. Total enrollment has increased 11.7 percent since 1997-98 with 14,740 students to 17,269 in 2004-05.

Student scores have risen as the institution has grown. In 1997, the average ACT score of the freshman class was 23.5. By 2003, it had risen to 25.4 (the national average is 20.8 on a scale of 1 to 36). Further, the average high school grade point average of the freshman class increased from 3.40 in 1997 to 3.60 in 2003. The proportion of entering students from the top 10 percent of their high school class has increased from 28 percent in 1997 to 36 percent in 2003.

Academic achievement on the national level is also part of the Arkansas story. In 2003-04, 88 undergraduates won prestigious state and national scholarships, fellowships and awards.

The University of Arkansas, the flagship campus of the University of Arkansas System, rests on a former hilltop farm overlooking the Ozark Mountains to the south. At the University's founding in 1871, the site in Fayetteville was described as "second to none in the state of Arkansas."

Located in Fayetteville, UA is both the major land-grant university for Arkansas and the state university. The University came into being under the Morrill Land-Grant College Act of 1862, through which federal land sales provided funds for new colleges devoted to "agriculture and the mechanic arts," "scientific and classical studies," and "military tactics" for the "liberal and practical education of the industrial classes." The University's founding satisfied the provision in the Arkansas Constitution of 1868 that the General Assembly "establish and maintain a State University."

Today, the UA campus includes 130 buildings on 345 acres and offers more than 200 academic programs, more than some universities twice its size. Yet it maintains a low student-to-faculty ratio (currently 17:1) that makes personal attention possible.

The campus is also graced by the unique, much-loved tradition of Senior Walk. Since the university's founding, the names of almost 124,000 graduates have been etched into more than five miles of campus sidewalks, arranged by year of graduation.

THE CAMPUS AND ITS SURROUNDING COMMUNITIES

The University of Arkansas is located in Fayetteville, a city of nearly 60,000 residents. Fayetteville is at the southern tip of a metroplex that runs northward for 25 miles along I-540 through Washington and Benton counties in Northwest Arkansas and ends in Bella Vista, an upscale retirement community near the state's northern border.

The metroplex also includes Springdale (home of Tyson Foods, the world's largest meat producer), Lowell (home of J.B. Hunt Trucking), Rogers and Bentonville (home of Wal-Mart Stores Inc., the world's largest corporation).

The two Northwest Arkansas counties (Washington and Benton) that contain this metroplex are growing rapidly, due to a booming regional economy. The Fayetteville-Springdale-Rogers metropolitan area is ranked by the U.S. Census Bureau as being the sixth fastest-growing metro area in the nation. From 1990 to 2000, the metropolitan area grew 47.5 percent, from 210,908 to 311,121.

Situated on the Ozark Mountain Plateau, Northwest Arkansas offers friendly people, beautiful scenery, a moderate climate, excellent school districts and a robust economy in which the unemployment rate runs well below national averages. Fayetteville itself presents the vibrant cultural life that would be expected in any

SUPPORT SERVICES MISSION STATEMENT

ACADEMIC SUPPORT

The University of Arkansas Academic Support Center serves as the liaison between the athletic department and all faculty, staff and university personnel regarding academic support concerns and procedures.

The Academic Support Center is committed to providing the Razorback student-athletes with the tools and resources they need to succeed in the competitive academic environment at the University of Arkansas, ultimately leading to graduation.

Support services include a mentoring program, monitored study hall, tutoring services, a computer laboratory and referrals to other campus support services.

UA'S ACADEMIC GAME PLAN FOR GRADUATION

Student-athletes are expected to meet specific academic criteria in order to maintain their eligibility. This can be easily achieved by following the Academic Game Plan set out by the Academic Support Center.

The support center staff has designed programs and set specific goals to help student-athletes achieve academic success. One such goal is each student-athlete enroll and successfully complete 30 hours of coursework each academic year. By maintaining this course load, they will not only be on track to graduate in four years, but will easily meet eligibility requirements set by the NCAA.

THE RAZORBACK PROGRAM FOR STUDENT-ATHLETE SUCCESS

The Office of Student Support Services of the University of Arkansas Athletic Department was established to assist student-athletes in their efforts toward attaining specific academic and life goals as well as graduation.

Recognizing the difficulty of being both a student and an athlete, the office seeks to help students develop appropriate skills, which will allow them to maximize their individual potential while participating in intercollegiate athletics.

The University of Arkansas is a participant in the NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills Program. This program addresses the needs of student-athletes in five primary areas: Academics, Personal Development, Career Development, Community Service and Athletic Excellence.

STUDENT LIFE

The University of Arkansas is as concerned about the personal and social development of our student-athletes as it is their academics and athletics.

The Office of Student Life focuses on the personal development and community service components of the NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills program. Training is provided in a wide variety of areas such as financial planning, drug and alcohol education, time management, study skills and developing community service activities.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The purpose of the Career Development Program is to assist student-athletes in making a smooth transition into the world of work. This process begins in the freshman year with a one-hour course in which career options are explored.

Workshops are also held to provide student-athletes training in resume writing, interviewing skills and etiquette. Individual assistance with locating summer internships and job placement helps give the student-athlete a head start in his or her career.

Participation in athletics enables individuals to develop the personal qualities that are in high demand in the business world today.

CROSS COUNTRY AND TRACK AND FIELD ACADEMIC AWARDS

Not only do coach John McDonnell's student athletes shine on the track, they also excel in the classroom. The 2006 indoor and outdoor squads were named the US Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA) All-Academic Teams of the Year. Jaanus Uudmae was the 2006 USTFCCCA Indoor Male Scholar Athlete of the Year with a 4.0 GPA as a computer science major. Adam Perkins was a USTFCCCA Academic All-American with a 3.4 GPA as a finance major.

As a whole, outdoor track and field boasts an Academic Progress Rate of 945 for the 2006-07 academic year and the team compiled an overall GPA of 2.9 during 2007's spring semester.

FLINT HARRIS
Academic Counselor

Flint Harris is entering his fourth year as the academic counselor for the Arkansas cross country and track and field programs. Harris coordinates study hall, assists student-athletes with scheduling classes and acts as a liaison between professors and student-athletes. Additionally, he meets with many student-athletes on a weekly basis to review their classes.

Harris earned his doctorate in Adult Education in May of 2005 after earning a master's degree in Sports Management and a bachelor's degree in Kinesiology, all from the University of Arkansas. He also teaches a graduate class in the sport management master's program at UA.

A native of Ft. Worth, Texas, he is married to the former Rebekah Clemons of North Little Rock.
